DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election with traverse of claims 1-11 in the reply filed on December 30, 2004 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the grounds that searching claims 21-26 would not be a burden. This is not found persuasive because the two inventions require a divergent search.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-7 and 11 are rejected under 35 USC 102(e) as being anticipated by "PREMIER™ Anterior Cervical Plate System Surgical Technique." Fig. 21B illustrates the plate. Figs. 23 and 24 illustrate a drill guide having first and second guide members extending from a handle. As shown in Fig. 24, the tips of the guide members comprise "offset portions." The bevels of the guide members comprise intermediate portions or slot engaging ends. The offset portions may space the fastener any myriad of distances, including 1 millimeter, depending on the location of the guide relative to the upper edge of the elongated slot.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 8-10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
